Title 20: Courts

Chapter 4: Supreme Court-Powers and Duties Generally

§ 53. Supreme Court may prescribe rules of procedure for courts of inferior jurisdiction

Cite as: 20 CNCA § 53

The Supreme Court shall also have power to prescribe from time to time, such rules of practice for regulating the procedure in the trial of cases in the lower courts, as they may deem necessary, expedient or serviceable, and which shall not conflict with the rules prescribed by law. The object of the Court in prescribing such rules shall be the more speedy and accurate presentation of the issue or point of difference between the parties, the exclusions of unnecessary and irrelevant testimony, and the more certain administration of justice.
